

Construction On I 90 Will Start In June

In the presence of a Herald reporter Tuesday morning, County Judge Charles C. Smith Jr. had a telephone conversation with the District Highway Engineer's office in Bryan in which he verified the fact that bids are about to be let for construction on U. S. 190 from Cameron to the Bell County line.

Smith reported from his conversation that two bids would be asked for; one inside the city limits and one outside. Bids are due to be submitted by 9 a. m. Wednesday, May 20.

The Highway Department will call for bids on graduating, drainage structure, flexible base and two course surface treatment. Inside the city limits they will also call for curbing and gutter.

Construction on the new highway must start within 30 days after the bids are submitted. Judge Smith estimated that construction would start by the middle of June.

Judge Smith stated that the cost of procuring the right-of-way by the city and county was in excess of $100,000.00. There will be 15,403 miles of new construction from the city limits.

Construction Of Southern Pacific Line Disapproved

It was announced in Washington Tuesday that construction of a 5 1/2 mile line by the Southern Pacific Railroad to connect with the Rockdale, Sandow and Southern Railroad had been disapproved by an Interstate Commerce Commission examiner.

The examiner recommended against construction by the Texas and New Orleans Railroad to connect with the Rockdale, Sandow and Southern Railroad near Sandow to serve the aluminum plant in that area.

He stated that adequate service to the plant's needs was now being given by the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

The next step to be taken by the Southern Pacific Railroad will be to file their exceptions to the different points of ruling with the secretary of the interstate commerce board. He will then have a hearing before five of the members of the board which comprise the committee that has charge of that particular division. Following this, he will have a hearing before the whole commission of 12 members.

In the event that the Southern Pacific Railroad still gets an adverse decision, their next step may possibly be to ask the commission for permission to abandon the road south of Cameron.

This decision is of vital importance to both Cameron and Milam County as it will mean the difference between dual and singular rail service to the south. Any discontinuance of freight service will have a definite adverse effect on farmers and businessmen alike in Milam County.

S. S. Representative To Be In Cameron Tuesday, May 12

A representative of the Social Security Administration will visit Cameron on May 12, 1953, at 1:00 p. m. according to James B. Marley, manager of the Austin office. He will be at the Department of Public Welfare at the time specified to give information and service in connection with all phases of the Federal Old Age and Survivors Insurance program.

The Austin office is particularly desirous of contacting those salaried and self-employed people who are thinking of retiring this year and claiming their benefits on the basis of their work and earnings since January 1, 1951. The office explains that technicalities in the law make it advisable for all such workers to obtain full information about their individual cases in order to satisfy themselves as to the most advantageous time for filing their application.

Two Cars Collide Near Milano Early Sunday Morning

Two cars were considerably damaged in an early morning accident Sunday, May 3. A 1951 Chevrolet pickup, driven by Mrs. Eloise James of Milano, collided with a 1953 Dodge, driven by Robert J. Stewart, 67, of Rt. 3, Milano, at about 1:00 a. m.

The accident occurred about four miles west of Milano on Highway 79, according to Highway Patrolmen John Blansit and W. W. Modest who investigated the wreck.

Mrs. James, giving her speed as about 40 mph, was driving east and suddenly came across the center line. Her pickup hit the oncoming Dodge with its left fender, smashing the whole left side of the Dodge. It is estimated that the Dodge was traveling at between 35 and 40 mph.

Both cars were heavily damaged. Stewart and Mrs. James were treated at St. Edward Hospital and released.

Action on the case is pending.

Yoe High Band Rates First in Region III Band Contest in Waco

The Yoe High School Band won two firsts in the Region III Band Contest held at Waco Hall, Baylor University, on May 1 and 2. They received a First Division Rating (top) in concert playing and a First Division Rating in sight reading.

Francis Cox, director, explained that officially, a First Division Rating is absolutely highest in quality. However, unofficially, the judges saw fit to include on their rating sheets a "First plus rating," which was their way of indicating their opinion that the Cameron band gave a performance above that ordinarily expected from a top band, he said.

From all opinions expressed in Waco Saturday, the Yoe High Band was one of the best bands ever heard from Cameron. Cox commented. One eminent director said that it was the best AA school band he had heard in the state this year. Typical quotes from the judges follow: "band plays with much dignity and authority"—"the balance is superb and shows wonderful musicianship"—"an outstanding organization"—"best interpretation of this number I have heard from a high school band this year"—"I think you get the true meaning of this contest number."

Nine of the eleven Yoe High entries in the solo and ensemble divisions were rated FIRST. They were: Billye Nell Johnson, baritone solo; Wayne Fisher, tuba solo; Rosemary Jones, cornet solo; Kay Cox, piano solo; Rita Nabours, Rita Reid, Kay Cox, and Jimmie Rae Colburn, flute quartet; Sara Esslinger, Sharon Cammer, and Barbara Aigner, woodwind trio; Nancy Lawrence, Carol Sanders, Betsy Vogelsang, and Wilma Baldrige, clarinet quartet; Martha Collins, Ann Bradbury, Jane Hender, (See YOE BAND, Back Page)

We want to express our sincere gratitude to the people of Cameron and Milam County for the almost unbelievable response to our subscription contest now in progress. There have been lots of happy smiles on the faces of the kids as they left our office with dollars in hand they earned themselves.

We feel sure that our many new subscribers will be happy with their small investment not only for the fact that they helped a kid, but for the complete city and county news coverage they will get for the coming year... PLUS special features found only in the CAMERON HERALD such as The Little River Philosopher and Texan Parade.

Remember, the contest is still in progress through noon, May 16.

Cameron schools will close for the school year on Monday, May 25.

Graduation exercises for the 1953 Senior Class of Yoe High School will be at 8 p. m. Monday, May 25, at the athletic field. The student program will be in charge of Mrs. C. L. Canady, a senior sponsor.

For a complete program of Commencement Exercises, see the back page of this issue.

Baccalaureate services will take place at the athletic field on Sunday night, May 24, at 8. Rev. Harsh Brown, pastor of the First Christian Church, is speaker for the occasion.

Ten high-ranking students have been named for the 1952-53 school year, according to S. M. Layfield, Yoe High School principal.

First honor student is Martha (See GRADUATION, Back Page)

Weeds and Grass May Be Cut at $1.50 Hour C. of C. Announces

The charge for having weeds and grass cut in Cameron by Hardy Fuller is $1.50 per hour instead of the previous announcement of $1.50 per house. R. L. Goodrich, chairman of the Health and Sanitation Committee, said today. Goodrich said that Mr. Fuller estimates that it should take from one hour to one and one-half hours to cut the average size lot of 75 feet by 150 feet.

Recent rains have caused the weeds and grass to put on rapid growth and Goodrich is urging property owners to arrange to have them cut as soon as possible. He said that the charge being made in Cameron is still less than that in cities near Cameron.

Persons wishing to list their lots with Mr. Fuller may call the Chamber of Commerce, telephone 101, and leave their name.

Two Dallas Men Injured In Friday Take-Off Crash at Cameron Airport

Two men were injured in the crash of a private plane at the Cameron Airport Friday night. Hurt in the 8:30 p. m. take-off accident were Robert Lyle and Robert Edge, both of Dallas.

Edge and Lyle were taking off from the Cameron airport en route to Dallas in a Swift two-passenger plane. The plane landing lights were on, but there were no lights on the runway. There was very little wind, and the plane had reached flying speed, but it hit weeds and high grass near the end of the runway causing it to lose speed. Despite the use of flaps the plane did not gain enough altitude to clear the fence at the edge of the field. The wheels hit the fence, wrapping wire around one axle. It nosed over into the George Leath pasture on the far side of the highway.

Edge and Lyle were taken to the Newton Memorial Hospital by private car. They are still hospitalized, but their injuries are not believed to be serious.

Edge and Lyle are both representatives of the Byrd Oil Corporation of Dallas. Both are married; Edge has two children, Lyle, four.

The two Dallas men had come to Cameron on business for the Byrd Company. Just before the accident they had eaten dinner with Val Johnson, toolpusher on the rig owned by the Fletcher Drilling Company which is drilling on a wildcat near Hanover for the Byrd firm.

The plane owned by the Byrd concern is considerably damaged, but can be repaired.

Convention Draws 550 Firemen; Thorndale Wins Pumper Races

Thorndale won first place in the pumper races which highlighted the Central Texas Volunteer Firemen's Association convention held here on Sunday.

A large crowd saw the trucks compete on Main Street. As the whistle blew, a hose from each truck was hooked up to the fire-plug by the jail, water was pumped through the truck and forced out through the second hose. Thorndale's crew, the quickest and most efficient competing, earned $50 as its reward. In second place was Belton, winning $30. Third prize of $20 was won by Killeen.

Over 550 firemen from 25 towns registered for the 33rd semi-annual firemen's convention. Johnny Andres, secretary-treasurer of the local volunteer firemen, said that it was one of the biggest crowds the convention had drawn in a long time. (See FIREMEN, Back Page)

First Milam Tomatoes Seen in Cameron May 1

Cameron saw its first Milam County tomatoes Friday when Cecil Morgan walked into the First National Bank with a handful, each about the size of a man's fist. He reported that he had about 75 bushels more just like them and that one man near his farm had even more. Morgan's place is a few miles from Cameron toward Marlow.

The Herald took one of the tomatoes and cut it open. We found it to be No. 1 with no excessive seed. Morgan attributed the early crop to the recent rains. He said that ordinarily it would not have been ready to pick until June.

John R. Small Is 6,000th Trainee For Combat Command "B" At Hood

Private John R. Small, son of Mrs. Ruby Small of Cameron, last week became the 6,000th trainee to arrive at Fort Hood and begin his Army career with Combat Command "B", First Armored Division.

Following the men before him, the unsuspecting Small stepped from the army bus and was immediately greeted by Colonel Roy W. Gold, Jr. commanding officer of Combat "B," and other staff officers. Amid the greetings and the popping of flash bulbs, Private Small gasped:

"I never expected anything like this when I was drafted."

Following the brief welcoming ceremonies, Pvt. Small was escorted to the 501st Replacement Company mess hall where he and his fellow arrivals enjoyed a steak dinner.

As did the 5,999 men who preceded him, Pvt. Small will become thoroughly trained in the use and employment of basic weapons, tactics, and special training to bring out his leadership qualities with the possibility of a commissioned or non-commissioned officer's rank in the future.

Filming of "Sound Barrier" Was Hazardous Operation; Coming To 77 Drive-In Theatre May 12-13

Four miles above the ground, at temperatures as low as 50 degrees below freezing, movie cameramen filmed one of World's fastest airplanes, the Vickers Supermarine 535, Swift. This prototype single-seater swept-winged jet fighter, powered by a Rolls Royce Nine engine, is one of stars of David Lean's new film on supersonic flight, "Breaking The Sound Barrier," opening May 12 at 77 Drive-In Theatre, through United Artists release.

Air-to-air photography was done from a Vickers Valett, piloted by an ex-RAF flyer, Spud Murphy. The plane carried a camera crew of five, with three cameras. Filming in these conditions was hazardous. No one fell out of the open door, where a camera was lodged, although once the plane banked steeply and unexpectedly, and cameraman Peter Newbrook performed a double somersault backwards. Once the Valett sprung an oil leak while airborne. When the Valett soared up to its ceiling height four miles above the earth, icicles formed on the men's oxygen masks. Their flying suits were covered with frost. If the cameraman touched the camera with his naked hand, the skin was torn off. In "Breaking The Sound Barrier," which was produced and directed by David Lean, the Swift appears as the jet prototype "Prometheus," a plane "designed" by Joseph Tomelty, "manufactured" by Ralph Richardson and "flown" by Nigel Patrick and John Justin. Ann Todd is starred in the film as the wife of test pilot Nigel Patrick.

Buckholts School Royalty Crowned In April 24 Ceremony

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

By Herman Yezak

The Senate bill providing six hundred dollars across the board pay raise for teachers, except for superintendents, was finally passed in the House on April 28. The bill goes next to the comptroller for certification. In the event the Comptroller fails to certify the bill will be returned to the House of its original introduction.

The Senate approved a previously House passed constitutional amendment to require women to serve on jury. The amendment will be voted on during the general election in November 1954.

The bill to require registration of lobbyists met defeat before a House Committee. A motion to send the bill to a friendly committee failed.

A constitutional amendment providing for a State Building Commission to erect a state courts building and a state office building with surplus confederate pension funds won final approval in the House. The amendment is scheduled for a vote by the people on next general election in 1954.

Texas servicemen would be entitled to vote in their home county under the terms of a House constitutional amendment passed in the Senate. It would be voted on in 1954 general election.

The Senate started hearings on the charges against Judge Laughlin of Alice. The charges listed code of ethics violations and improper conduct of an officer of the Court as an attorney and Judge. Every attorney, an officer of the Court, subscribes to the Code of Ethics of the legal profession promulgated by the State Bar Association.

A bill aimed at censoring books written by subversive authors was approved in the House. Local school districts and colleges would list objectionable books.

The House took up the election code revision bill. Controversy arose on several important changes proposed by amendments and chances for its passage were dimmed.

The House passed the Judicial re-districting bill after amending and debating the bill for parts of two days. The Bill was sent to the Senate for its consideration.

The House unanimously approved a constitutional amendment to let teachers count service on other state jobs in computing retirement benefits. It will come up for a vote in November 1954.

Mrs. Thomas Nelson, Sr., of Houston and Mrs. Thomas Nelson, Jr., of Longview were weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford B. Pangborn.

DESTRUCTION OF BUFFALO DRAMATIC AND TRAGIC EPISODE

One of the saddest incidents in the history of the old West was the destruction of the buffalo. Un-calculated millions of these animals ranged over approximately a third of the continent, where for unknown centuries they were the chief source of food, clothing and shelter for the natives. Yet, in approximately a decade — the 1870s — the white man wiped this source of life off the Plains.

Some say this was caused by civilization moving westward too rapidly; others say simply that it was greed of the white man; and those who try to justify everything in favor of the Caucasian say it was a noble measure to rid the country of the Indians by starving them out.

As a commercial proposition, the world has never known a waste of game equal to that of the buffalo slaughter. How many hunters came to the plains hunting the buffalo for their hides can only be vaguely estimated. One hunter estimated that in 1876 there were 5,000 in Texas alone. Between 1871 and 1887, 5,860,000 hides were shipped from one railroad terminal — Dodge City.

Rarely was there any sportsman-ship in the killings. It was a wild rush among bold and reckless men to get the one or two salable parts of the animal, strictly a business of mass destruction. It was big business. The market was glutted; and the wholesale slaughter of the herds netted only a small percent of what they might have brought under thoughtful organization or control. Packers were late in realizing the superior quality of the meat. And then only a negligible percent was saved. The meat of an average buffalo selling at from two and one-half to three cents a pound would gross about eleven dollars. Many of the buffaloes brought only one dollar for their hides. Buffalo tongues sold as high as ten pesos in Mexico City; but few hunters thought about any part except the hide.

The stupidity of the buffalo made his extermination comparatively easy. Billy Dixon, one of the most noted of the hunters, observed that the buffalo "would pay scarcely any attention to white hunters, even though the big buffalo guns were booming from sunrise to sunset," though the appearance of an Indian would usually stampede a herd.

The characteristic of the stupidity is revealed in an account by another famous buffalo hunter, Wyatt Earp, in his biography by Stuart N. Lake: "A hunter would drag his Sharps to a rise of ground giving a good view of the herd, pick a bunch of animals, set his rest sticks and start shooting. He aimed to hit an animal on the edge of the bunch, the leader, if possible, just back of the foreleg and about one third of the way up the body. If the slug went true the animal would drop in his tracks or stagger a few steps and fall. Strangely enough the buffalo paid no attention to the report of the rifle and very little, if any, to one that fell.

"A first class hunter would kill with almost every shot, and if he was good he could drop game until some buffalo still on his feet chanced to sniff closely at one that had fallen. Then it was up to the hunter to drop the sniffer before he could spread the excitement over the smell of blood. If he could do this, the slaughter might continue, but eventually the blood scent became so strong that several animals noticed it. They would bellow, paw, their frenzy would spread to bushes nearby, and suddenly the whole herd was off on a wild run." As many as a hundred animals have been known to be killed in this fashion from one stand. Earp related that Billy Tilgman took 3,300 hides between September and April of one year.

A few buffaloes were killed for sport. But when the greenhorn appeared on the range, the professional hunters hustled him off if possible, upon giving him all the meat he could carry home, in order to keep him from stampeding and scattering the herds. Occasionally tourists shot buffaloes from train windows just to see them fall. Buffalo Bill Cody killed sixty-nine buffalo on a horseback run just to show a few hundred excursionists what he could do.

After the hides were sold and the carcasses rotted, the final act of the tragedy was the collection and sale of bones. Thousands of tons of buffalo bone were collected and shipped for use as fertilizer and carbon.

'Private Gas Well' Does Variety of Farm Jobs

Farm Uses of LP Gas:

1. Livestock space heater
2. Milk can sterilizing
3. Poultry scalding and waxing
4. Pig brooder
5. Chick brooder
6. Stationary engine
7. Weed burner and tractor
8. Stock water tank heater
9. Flame-cutting torch
10. Smudge pots

Although most farms are located beyond city gas mains, they can now have their own "backyard gas well" to supply fuel for a wide variety of important jobs. Liquefied petroleum gas is delivered to the central supply system. Stored as a liquid, the fuel changes to its gaseous state when used. Large amounts of LP-Gas (butane, propane, bottled or tank gas) can be stocked because one volume of liquid expands to about 270 volumes of gas. The fuel is also used by millions of farm families to operate modern household appliances, including automatic ranges, water heaters, clothes dryers, incinerators, refrigerators and heating plants.

MRS. DOROTHY FREED, mother of four small children, is pictured by her bed in McKnight Sanatorium near San Angelo where she is receiving treatment for tuberculosis

San Angelo, Texas, May 7.—Dorothy Freed won't be home for Mother's Day.

When Christmas comes, however, the 29 year old mother hopes to be there actively supervising the filling of four small stockings. She wasn't home last Christmas.

"Home" to hazel-eyed Mrs. Freed means Austin and Travis County, where she has spent most of her life and where her four children were born in happier days.

They were busy days for the young mother until last December when a hemorrhage from her lungs sent her to her doctor and she learned the dread verdict—tuberculosis.

Mrs. Freed was not totally unprepared for the unpleasant news, she recalls, because her youngest sister, Mrs. Inez Johns, with whom she had shared an apartment, fell victims to the disease about five years ago. Both are now patients in McKnight Sanatorium, near San Angelo.

"I'm one of the fortunate ones," Mrs. Freed observed. "Mine was found early and they tell me that a year should see me cured. I'm doing so well now they think I'll be back with my babies by Christmas."

Her eyes saw more than words when she speaks of her "babies." Their ages run from eight years—that's Gayle, her eldest daughter—to 21 months, the age of Harley B., her only son. Sandwiched between Laraine, 5, and Viola, 3.

"I was a bit worried about Viola," she confided soberly. "But they've had her X-rayed, they're watching her closely and they say she is all right." The relief in her voice was like a second audible chord, the light in her eyes like the sudden flare of candles.

"They" means her brother, Joseph Flint, and his wife who live in Mathis, Texas.

The flints have six children of their own but when Dorothy asked them to keep her babies together while she battled tuberculosis, they made room in their tiny, rented home for the four little bystanders caught in TB's grim web.

"I haven't seen them since last December," she said quietly.

Quiet words. Quiet voice. But the soul sickening loneliness rich-ohets against the austere walls, echoes down the bare, clean corridor.

Maybe, just maybe, she will be able to have them visit her after school ends in May, she added hesitantly. Mathis, in deep south Texas, and back is about 800 miles and hungry little mouths have first call on a labor's slim pay check.

But Mr. Flint and his wife have told Dorothy they will try to arrange it.

The two children of Mrs. Johns are being cared for by the eldest of the three Flint sisters, Mrs. Harden Wallace of New Braunfels. They won't see their mother this Sunday, either.

Mrs. Freed conceded the two sum-cases have entangled all their lives, but hospital attendants call her a "good patient." They say there is every indication she has taken the measure of her enemy and is concentrating intelligence and a steady courage on getting well and "getting back to my babies."

Records show she is responding well to streptomycin. She has gained 15 pounds since she entered Travis County TB hospital last December awaiting admission to McKnight. Almost five feet, six inches tall, dark haired Dorothy now weighs 111 pounds.

She is allowed to do some hand-work, such as crocheting, embroidery, knitting, and is permitted to leave her bed for prescribed intervals.

Pictures of her children are next that bed where a mother's hand can reach if remembered baby voices seem to cry out in the long hours of the night.

There was no calendar in sight. Perhaps Dorothy Freed doesn't need one to count the days till Christmas....

Anyway she long since would have crossed off May 10—because Dorothy Freed won't be home for Mother's Day.

THE LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER FAVORS NEW IDEA IN WARFARE OF OFFERING REWARD FOR ENEMY PLANES TURNED IN

Editor's note: The Little River Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm at Marlow must think he's a military strategist, the way his letter this week sounds.

Dear editor:

I saw in a copy of a newspaper which fell out of a small whirlwind out here the other afternoon along with four pieces of wrapping paper and several un-paid bills where the United States army over in Korea is offering $50,000 for any enemy flier who delivers a Russian-built jet plane to the Allies.

This struck me as a good idea and I wonder why it wasn't thought up earlier. I don't have any idea how many Russian planes we'll get this way, but it sounds like a bargain and I would like to see this new style of war carried even further.

Why not offer say $10,000 for every enemy tank delivered to us, and come on down the scale, $5,000 for every platoon, $100 for every rifle, hand grenades $6 apiece, canteens two-bits, etc.

I don't know whether our money would hold out, but if I had to do any fighting myself I'd prefer to try to use money instead of bullets.

Of course, I don't think we ought to rely on this method altogether, we ought to keep on taking our own weapons just in case, but it sounds like a pretty good idea. Naturally, we may run into some pretty canny types of enemies, and it may come a time when one will circle around overhead and try to horse-trade a little, offering to turn in his plane for $60,000 instead of $50,000 on account of radio, heater, and white sidewall tires, but Americans if they're good at anything are good at horse-trading and I figure we can hold our own in this kind of a deal.

Also, we don't want em turn in any worn-out models, any oil burners, slick-tired jobs with leaky radiators and a dead battery, but I figure we can handle that too by commissionin a few used-car dealers to protect our interests. I can name a few I know that'd know how to take care of the firm, so to speak. Knowin how to swap horses used to be a profession, but it has yielded to car dealers, who know how to spot a spavined automobile at 200 yards. I got an old model out here I've been holdin for the market to go up, but it's now in the same shape as a Jersey steer I been holdin for two years. Could have gotten $90 for him a year ago, could have gotten $70 for him six months ago, a feller offered me $42 for him last week. Wish you would ask Sec. Benson if I should hold him a while longer or sell before the price goes down some more. I already got to the point where I know by judgment is worthless.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

A swim in the Great Salt Lake is included. In San Francisco a tour deluxe will be made.

Eleven days will be spent at the huge Jamboree site on the Irvine Ranch at Newport Harbor near Santa Ana. Fifty thousand Scouts and leaders will make this the largest assembly of "free" youth in the world.

The Jamboree is a "once in a lifetime" educational experience for a Scout, as it is held only once in four years. Several openings are still available at this time. Any Scout family interested in the Jamboree is invited to contact the Council office in the Amicable Building in Waco.

Pastor From Hamburg, Germany Speaks To Texas College Youth

Rev. Hans Arndt, of Hamburg, Germany, arrived in Dallas this week for a two-month visit in the state as a guest of the 35,000 Baptist Student Union members on the campuses of 60 Texas colleges and universities.

Rev. Arndt, director of Baptist Youth Activities in Germany, will speak at various colleges, address the Southern Baptist Convention in Houston May 6-10, and will go with a Texas delegation as a guest of Texas students to the fourth World Baptist Youth Congress in Brazil in July.

The former German Army officer who spoke Monday to almost 3,000 students at Baylor University, Waco, expressed amazement that so many young people were attending a college. Unlike the United States, Germany has no colleges and only a few attend the universities where it takes four to six years to earn a doctor's degree.

He was a pastor of a Berlin Church until 1940 when he was drafted into the German Army. When his unit retreated to South Germany, he was taken prisoner of war by the United States troops. After liberation the German pastor was asked to help re-establish religious activities in Germany. The Russian-born German, living in a country where 93 per cent of the entire German population belongs to either the Lutheran, Catholic, or one of the churches not supported by state taxes, seemed surprised that only about 55 per cent of the United States citizens are church members.

According to Rev. Arndt, East and West Germany work together in their religious activities and encounter little opposition when traveling from one section to another.

"A Sure Foundation"

Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a Precious Corner Stone, a sure foundation: he that believeth shall not make haste. Isaiah 28:16.

The foundation has everything to do with the kind of a house that is built, it shapes it, and holds it. Also, it has everything to do with the looks of the house; it determines the valleys, the caves, and the gables in the roof. In other words, the building will be exactly in harmony with the principles of the foundation.

Therefore, every life that is built on the sure foundation that Our Heavenly Father has laid out for us to build on, will be exactly like the house of life that God wants.

Paul tells us in Hebrews 3:4-6—For every house is builded by some man; but he that built all things is God. And Moses verily was faithful in all his house, as a servant, for a testimony of those things which were to be spoken after: but Christ as a Son over His own house; whose house are we, if we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope firm unto the end.

Now a foundation has to have a corner stone to start from and the scripture tells us that Christ is the stone. I Peter 2:4-8—To whom coming, as unto a living stone, disallowed indeed of men, but chosen of God, and Precious, Ye also, as lively stones, are built up a spiritual house, as holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ, wherefore also it is contained in the scripture, behold, I lay in Zion a Chief Corner Stone, elect, Precious; and He that believeth on Him shall not be confounded. Unto you therefore that believe, He is precious; but unto them that be disobedient, the stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner, and a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offense, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient: whereunto also they were appointed.

We also find that it is a tried stone and Precious. Paul tells us: According to the grace of God which is given unto me, as a wise masterbuilder, I have laid the foundation, and another buildeth thereon. But let every man take heed how he buildeth thereupon. For another foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ. Now if any man build upon this foundation Gold, Silver, Precious Stones, wood, hay, stubble; every man's work shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by fire, and the fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is. If any man's work abide which he has built thereupon, he shall receive a reward. I Cor. 3:10-14. Build up Jesus Christ our Lord.
